Psalm 35

What stood out to you in the podcast and/or in the reading of this Psalm?

What are your initial thoughts when you hear David cursing his enemies in the Psalms? Do you struggle to understand how this squares with Jesus' command to love your enemies? What are your thoughts on the imprecatory psalms after listening to the podcast?

What is our natural reaction when people hurt us? What does David do when he is wronged by people he knew and cared for? How is this an example to us?

How does this Psalm relate to praying "your kingdom come" in the Lord's prayer?

As we read the Psalms, there will likely be ones that we do not feel we can immediately relate to. What is the purpose of these psalms? Why is it important to remember that the Psalms are not just for personal use but are also meant to be a communal prayer/song?

What truths in this Psalm encourage your heart? Which truths challenge you?
